'Making The SRC A Force In The School' is the professional development seminar for teachers working with student representative councils in primary and secondary schools. 'Making The SRC A Force In The School' has been running for ten years with enormous success. We've run over 110 seminars in that time. Teachers have often been feeling alone and unsure about their role. 'Making The SRC A Force In The School' gives you the tools', the ideas and the support you need to grow a truly successful student council.

Students are also welcome to attend 'Making The SRC A Force In The School'. As well as having a great deal to teach all of us, you will find that having your students involved in professional development means a faster road to success and much less work for you to do.

'Making The SRC A Force In The School' boasts some of the best tea and coffee you'll ever have at a PD seminar. None of the cheap, unnamed brand instant coffee, we'll brew you a real cup. Life is too short to waste in professional development seminars with bad coffee!
